A message from the Chief Executive Officer

“The Montreal Heart Institute’s strong roots and tradition of innovation have allowed our professionals to take on ambitious projects to improve the health of the 55,000 patients we treat annually.”

This past year has marked us all in different ways. At the Foundation, we’ve joined the international community in the fight against the pandemic and deployed all our efforts to maintain and even increase the scope of our projects and operations. We’ve been able to do so in part because of the generosity of our partners and donors who all share a common goal: to help sensitive hearts.

The Montreal Heart Institute’s strong roots and tradition of innovation have allowed our professionals to take on ambitious projects to improve the health of the 68,000 patients we treat annually. Every day, our devoted and passionate teams set new standards and push the boundaries of science to improve care, research, teaching, and prevention at the Institute.

The strong ties we’ve forged with our community have contributed to scientific progress and breakthroughs:

- BRAIN-AF is the world’s first study that aims to demonstrate a link between atrial fibrillation and cognitive impairment in young patients.
- The COLCORONA research project includes genetic analyses on patients with COVID-19 to better understand why some of them develop a severe infection.

I also want to take this opportunity to highlight the spirit of solidarity that reins among our hospital staff as well as the dedication of Mélanie La Couture, President and CEO of the Institute. Over the past months, they were able to take on challenges with great resilience while ensuring their own safety and the safety of patients.

Thank you to our volunteers and collaborators and to the teams at the hospital and the Foundation. Together, and with your support, we continue to make a difference.

Alain Gignac
Chief Executive Officer

A message from the Chair of the Board

“Together, we’ve accomplished great things and we are pursuing our fight against the world’s leading cause of death.”

Dear friends,

After more than 20 years of supporting the Montreal Heart Institute Foundation as a member of the board of directors and various committees, it is an immense honour to have been named Board Chair. I want to thank my predecessor Lino A. Saputo for his dedication, leadership, and passion for the Institute’s mission.

This past year has included more than its fair share of surprises, challenges, and upsets. In fact, health has now become the most common topic of conversation and has led to the necessary changes that compel us all to rethink our future.

Amid this upheaval, a movement of hope has come together. We knew that our extended Foundation family was devoted and generous, but their unprecedented support during these times has had an immense impact. During the pandemic, we were able to continue to finance innovative research projects and transform our events into virtual gatherings without compromising on their excellence. And we were able to maintain solid ties with everyone who cares about our cause. Together, we’ve accomplished great things and we are pursuing our fight against the world’s leading cause of death.

True to our legacy of excellence and innovation, our priority today is to propel our experts’ major projects. To do so, we are counting on the support of our precious donors, collaborators, partners, volunteers, and members of the large Institute family.

To all our allies, thank you for opening your heart. Thank you for your contributions that have changed lives. Thank you for continuing to make a difference in the history of the Montreal Heart Institute.

Contributions

The Foundation is committed to pay the Montreal Heart Institute amounts totalling $34,230,081. These amounts include a commitment of $10,166,872 for Phase II of the Montreal Heart Institute's Investing in Excellence construction project.

Summary of 2020-2021

Our exceptional donors have enabled the Institute to shine as a world-leader in cardiology.

Their support helps our professionals carry out major projects in research, prevention, teaching, and care for patients. This has allowed the Institute to become a constantly evolving, world-class institution focused on innovative approaches and cutting-edge know-how and technology.

Thanks to the generosity of our 27,235 donors, the Foundation has raised $23,961,635 this year. Thank you for giving us the means to make a difference in the lives of tens of thousands of patients and their families.

We give life to your donations

Your donations have supported the Montreal Heart Institute's innovative projects.

Purchase of a next-generation DNA sequencer

Made possible thanks to the Gelmont Foundation, the Robert O'Brien estate, the J. Armand Bombardier Foundation, Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Sun Life, Fondation Ariane Riou et Réal Plourde, TFI International Inc., Mary M. Marlin Trust, and the Sibylla Hesse Foundation

Precision medicine, also known as personalized medicine, is based on an approach tailored to the patient's specific profile through genetic analysis. It is an approach that helps optimize treatments and improve the efficiency of medication. Thanks to advances made in genomic technologies, precision medicine research projects are now possible.

The NovaSeq 6000 DNA sequencer is a ground-breaking innovation which will allow the research team to remain a pioneer in its field.

Extension of the Beaulieu-Saucier Pharmacogenomics Centre

Made possible thanks to Gisèle Beaulieu and Michel Saucier

Pharmacogenomics is the study of the link between a patient's genetic profile and their response to medication. It is a field that contributes to the development of personalized medicine by enabling health care staff to treat patients with drugs adapted to their specific profile.

The addition of a 4th floor at Université de Montréal's Beaulieu-Saucier Pharmacogenomics Centre will allow the Biobank to expand and will house new microbiome, metabolomics, and artificial intelligence laboratories.

Bourses du Cœur from the Elina & Giuseppe Borsellino Family Foundation

Made possible thanks to the Elina & Giuseppe Borsellino Family Foundation

Les Bourses du Cœur from the Elina & Giuseppe Borsellino Family Foundation promote excellence in cardiology and foster a feeling of belonging at the Institute. These grants are awarded to young physicians during their fellowship, a period of additional training allowing them to gain knowledge, experience, and technical know-how in various internationally renowned centres.

This major donation from the Elina & Giuseppe Borsellino Family Foundation enables us to make sure this critical initiative created by Tony Meti can continue for years to come and allows us to continue to award annual scholarships.

Thank you to the Elina & Giuseppe Borsellino Family Foundation!

Diabetes Prevention Clinic sponsored by Sun Life

Made possible thanks to Sun Life

Thanks to the ongoing activities at the Diabetes Prevention Clinic sponsored by Sun Life during the pandemic, patients with type 2 diabetes or a metabolic syndrome were able to improve their overall health. Paired with a balanced diet, physical exercise helps prevent and mitigate the effects of the disease.

Since the clinic opened in 2018, more than 220 people have been optimizing their diabetes treatments with lifestyle changes.

We give life to your donations

A heartfelt, individual way to give

Gifting shares, donating a life insurance policy, or making a bequest are all simple ways to give. It's a way to show your willingness to leave a legacy that will ensure the future of the Institute and contribute to helping thousands of sensitive hearts.

Whether you do so because you want to leave your mark, pay tribute to a loved one, or show your gratitude for the Institute, your planned gift will change lives and give meaning to your own. Thank you to the Visionaries who have planned to make a donation to the Foundation.

We want to honour the heartfelt gesture of the Visionaries we lost this past year. Their actions will keep their values alive and their dedication to the Institute will live on.

Fundraising events and activities

The Foundation's fundraising events and activities are always memorable, mobilizing occasions. Even though most of them were held virtually this past year, they still raised an impressive amount for the Foundation!

Thank you to our partners and sponsors for supporting our virtual events and to everyone who took part. Thank you to everyone who has embraced our cause by organizing their own third-party fundraisers and solicited their network to raise money for the Foundation.
